THE ESSENTIAL CINEMAS

The name of the app that I am planning to create is "Essential Cinemas". This is the official website of Essential Cinemas which which allows the users to register themselves into the system and book the movie tickets. This system will help the users view movies those are already housefull and save their time to go to one of the cinemas and enquire about that movie. This is also a great system that keeps track of all the movies the user has seen in the past and also the list of upcoming movies that the users are thrilled to enjoy.

Another one of the advantages of this system is that the user can cancel their booking if they cannot make it to the movie due to some reason. It will give other enthusiastic movie lovers to grab those available spots and enjoy the movie. The users can also see the review posted by other users who have watched the movie so that it could help them decide whether to watch the movie or not. Moreover, the movie description will be a part of the system as well which will give the user a clear picture of what the movie is about.

DESKTOP VIEW

The desktop view consists of 7 pages (Home, About Us, Booking, My Movies, Contact Us, Login and Signup). The user when lands on the homepage of the website can view all kinds of movies those are currently being running at the Essential cinemas. If the user wish to make a booking, the system will prompt the users to log into the system using the Email Address and Password they used at the time of the Registration.
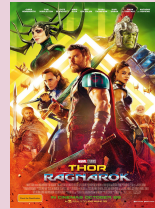

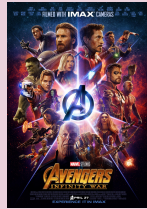

The next few pages of this document shows the wireframe design of each page in the website when the user logs into the system using a desktop browser. It basically gives an idea of what content is going to be added in which section of the website. These designs helps the developer start coding more effectively.

USE CASES

1. James Laughlin is a university student in Brisbane who is very fond of watching movies with his friends during the weekend. He recently found out that Essential Cinemas has one of its branches 10 minutes near to his house. Before buying a ticket for any movie, James like to know about the overview of the movie including the cast, ratings, user reviews, etc. Once he is satisfied with all the listed criteria, that is when he prefers to make a purchase.

2. Caitlin Robbie is a middle aged housewife who is a big fan of romantic movies. She is mainly busy with the household work and the farm work that their family own. Due to her busy schedule, she cannot always enjoy her occasional movies as most of the recent movies gets sold out as the other enthusiastic movie lovers gets to the store before and buys the tickets. Caitlin wishes if there was a way for her to book the movie tickets online while she is at home finishing off her work.
